MIghty Warships Pour Into Tokyo Bay As MacArthur Flies North from Manila

Halsey's Capital Ships Complete Run to Anchorage Off Yokosuka

Warships Fly Huge Battle Flags; South Dakota Will Serve as Adm. Nimitz's Flagship

By HAMILTON W. FARON
WITH HALSEY IN TOKYO BAY, Wednesday, Aug. 29 (P)—Adm. Halsey, who wants to ride Emperor Hirohito's white horse through Tokyo, steamed into Tokyo bay today at the head of his Third fleet.

His flagship, the mighty Missouri on which surrender terms will be signed Sunday, entered the bay at 7:08 p. m. Tuesday. Eastern War Time.

The 45,000-ton battleship Missouri was the first of the capital ships in Halsey's huge armada to pass from Sagami bay around Miura peninsula and through Uraga strait into Tokyo bay.

The fleet had been anchored in Sagami bay, only thirty miles south of Tokyo, two days.

Closely following the Missouri were three escorting destroyers, the Nicholas, O'Bannon and Taylor, all of which hold presidential unit citations for heroic action since the early days of the war.

The battleships Iowa and South Dakota followed. The South Dakota is to serve as Adm. Nimitz's flagship while he is here to sign at the formal ceremony Sunday for the United States.

Accompanying the South Dakota were the United States destroyers, Buchanan, Lansdowne and Lardner.

British Ships Are in Parade
Next in the giant navy parade came the British battleship Duke of York, flagship of Adm. Sir Bruce Fraser. Accompanying her were the British destroyers Whelp and Wager.

The warships flew huge battle flags and the crews were in battle dress at action stations.

The Missouri rounded the curve of the peninsula into Uraga strait at ten knots an hour.

She entered waters which only a few weeks ago were protected by 16 major caliber coastal guns.

That artillery, under the terms of surrender, had been neutralized.

The warships reduced speed and steamed at six knots during the entry.

The big Third fleet units were greeted by the flashing lights of Task Force 31 which had preceded them Tuesday.

The ships speeded up for the final

Japanese Prepare Allied Prisoners For Evacuation

OKINAWA, Wednesday, Aug. 29 (P)—The Japanese are readying 6,125 Allied military prisoners of war and ninety-four civilian internees at two camps within a ten mile radius of Atsugi airfield for evacuation by American planes tomorrow.

This was disclosed today by Col. Delbert Ward, San Antonio, Tex., fifth AFAC engineer who was in the first American plane to land on Atsugi airfield yesterday.

Ward told newsmen he had questioned Japanese medical officers regarding the prisoners and was told that no American aid was needed. They said they would have the entire complements of both camps ready for evacuation.

Of the total, about 400 were described as hospital cases.

While the Japanese said the prisoners were "Allied" they presumably were chiefly Americans.

Ward said he was assured the prisoners and civilians would be delivered to Atsugi airfield from where they could be taken to a landing hospital at Okinawa.

300 Survivors Of USS Houston Crew Are Found

Men Are Located in Japanese Prison Camp in Thailand

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (P)—An American officer brought word out of Thailand jungles today that some 300 survivors of the old heavy cruiser Houston, which vanished in 1942, are in a Japanese prison camp.

The Houston was part of an Allied naval force that tried to halt Japan's march through the Pacific islands and took a licking in the battle of the Java sea on February 27, 1942. The cruiser disappeared the next night while trying to run Soenda strait, between Java and Sumatra.

The first official report that some of her crew had been picked up came today from Lt. Col. Nicol Smith, who operated with underground forces in Thailand for the Office of Strategic Services. The number of survivors is approximate, Smith said, but "anyone having relatives on the crew of the Houston can be very optimistic."

He told a news conference that two of the crew escaped from a prison camp in Thailand several weeks ago and found their way, nearly dead from exhaustion and exposure, to a guerrilla training station run by Maj. Robert Bartlett, of Los Angeles. Smith did not have their names.

But they are to be flown out of Thailand shortly.

There is a possibility other survivors may have been captured and sent to other prisons and that some may have avoided capture and teamed up with guerrillas in the Pacific islands.

A former traveler and author with residences in New York and San Francisco, Smith left India over a week ago.

American Legion officials called on President Truman and said they told him "we were wholly in accord with the continuance of the Selective Service system."

Chairman Mead (D-NY), of the Senate War Investigating committee, said in a statement there was "no excuse" for retaining men over 35 in the army and that release of all over 30, especially those with dependents, should be emphasized.

Ruins of Tokyo Reflect Utter Defeat of Japs

By SPENCER DAVIS
IN A LIBERATOR BOMBER, OVER TOKYO, Aug. 28 (P)—The stillness of death hung over the ruins of Greater Tokyo today.

At her threshold lay the mighty Allied fleet drawn up in full battle array and at her backdoor the first elements of a great army of occupation had landed at the Atsugi air-drome and were preparing the way for thousands more to follow.

As this Liberator bomber circled for approximately an hour at a low level over what was once the third largest city in the world, there seemed no question of the utter defeat Japan had suffered. The national humiliation seemed to rise like a cloud from the reddish smudge of flattened buildings spreading over the city for blocks too numerous to count.

There were no crowds walking the streets already swept clear of rubble. There was only an occasional vehicle and a few cyclists. The bustle of a great city was gone. It had been crushed by fire bombs and defeat.

As we dropped to less than a thousand feet for a run over the palace grounds, we saw a line of soldiers—perhaps imperial guards—drawn up at attention. An officer was reading to them from a white paper.

Now and then an electric train crawled into a terminal or rattled across a bridge spanning the Sumida river. The movement was in such contrast to the complete stillness in the rest of the city that it caused us to comment excitedly: "Look it's moving."

Col. Forrest L. Brissey, of San Francisco, commanding officer of the Three Hundred and Eightieth "Flying Circus" bomb group, who was piloting the lead B-24 on this surveillance mission, snorted "that place is so quiet it looks like Three Corners, Iowa, on a Sunday afternoon."

There was one exception. On the northeast side of the Sumida river, one long, low structure had six letters painted in brilliant yellow on its flat roof. The letters spelled "thanks" and we knew without asking that it was a prisoner of war camp.

"Cleanup Day" Planned Saturday at Stockyards

Arthur P. Hoffa, president of the Cumberland Stockyards, yesterday mailed a letter to Allegany county farmers through the county agent's office requesting "a little lift" in getting the livestock market under way.

"Again, I am asking the farmers to give us a little lift in getting our livestock market under way. We have our building all ready to begin our first sale on Tuesday, September 4. It looks now like we will have a large crowd on hand for our first day, and we would like to have things in good shape so as to make a favorable impression on the public."

Hunter, 75, Uses Bell To Attract Squirrels

FRANKPORT, Ky., Aug. 28 (P)—Here's a squirrel story to view with the summer's best fish stories.

Pat Lane, who is 75 and can't dodge around trees to shoot squirrels like he used to, says he rings a sheep bell. The squirrels come around to his side of the tree to see what the noise is.

The story was relayed to the state game and fish commission by W. H. Buchanan, its area supervisor at Barbourville.

Results of Tour Please DeGaulle

CHICAGO, Aug. 28 (P)—Gen. Charles DeGaulle, concluding a seven-day visit to the United States, today expressed satisfaction with the results of the tour.

As head of the provisional French government, he said at a press conference, he had had "satisfactory" talks with President Truman and other members of the cabinet and was pleased with relations between the United States and France.

The feeling of the American people toward France he found to be "very, very friendly," the general told reporters and added:

"What happens to Europe is of paramount importance to the whole world. If Europe were allowed to fall into a state of chaos, it would be bad for the rest of the world."

The general put in a busy twenty hours in Chicago from the time of his arrival from New York last night until his plane took off at 5:45 p. m. Eastern War Time today for Ottawa, Canada, where he will visit Prime Minister MacKenzie King.

Lightning Kills Boy But Leaves Child On His Lap Unharmed

PLATTSBURGH, N. Y., Aug. 28 (P)—A lightning bolt killed 3-year-old Gerald D. Lozier, nearby Pleasantville today, but left unharmed a 3-year-old boy he held in his lap.

The bolt struck Gerald, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lozier, as he sat in the living room with eight other members of his family. Dr. George J. Culver of Ausable Forks, said.

Gerald's nephew, Wesley Darrash, 3, who was seated on his lap, was not hurt.

Award for MacArthur

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 28 (P)—Merrill Mueller, NBC war correspondent, said tonight in a Manila broadcast that Gen. MacArthur has received word his liberation campaign in the Philippines has won him a second award of the Distinguished Service Medal.

Wainwright Will

British Gen. Percival, who was to surrender Singapore, and an orderly also will accompany Wainwright.

Wainwright arrived in Chungking yesterday afternoon. He was said to be in "fair physical shape and excellent spirits."

MacArthur left today for Okinawa, from where he will take off early Thursday to fly with American occupation troops to Tokyo's Atsugi airfield.

The Wainwright party will emplane from Manila to join MacArthur in Japan.

A GI's Pacific Diary

(Continued from Page 16) ed that the mission personnel withdrawn. Bennett demurred. Now that the natives would know great distress, it was no time to run away, the priest argued. Yoeman argued and protested but Father Bennett demurred, said he would pray for guidance and for Yoeman to return tomorrow. Yoeman said he would never forget that call made the next day. Bennett took him through his gardens, explaining each flower. Then he took him to the library and gave him a glass of port. Yoeman said the priest walked from bookcase to bookcase, running his fingers lightly over choice volumes, then suddenly turned and said, "No, I won't leave." Yoeman saw there was no use arguing, so he said, "All right, but when they come do not leave the mission for any reason." Actually, when the Japs came the priest did withdraw his little force including two sisters, into the jungle—probably to protect the women from strafing Zeroes. The Japs found them there and immediately asked why a man of God should feel fear and withdraw into hiding, a native reported later. The two nuns were found nude and butchered and Bennett had never been heard of since. Yoeman said that in all probability the Japs kept him prisoner for a time at least due to his unusual knowledge of the terrain and the natives.

When the Americans arrived at Gona, the mission was a total ruin although some of the flowers survived the holocaust. Covers of books were also found in the debris. Some bore medical titles and one ironically enough had the title "Utopia." The cross in front of the mission chapel was still standing, however, though shot full of bullet holes from Bon gun, manned by Aussies of the AIF who killed thousands of Japs in the vicinity of the mission when the Diggers came over the mountains to push the enemy up against the sea.

Halsey's Capitol

(Continued from Page 1) lap of the run to anchorage off Yokosuka where plans call for the evacuation of 36,000 Allied prisoners of war, including about 8,000 Americans.

Jap Subs Surrender

The Japanese already were surrendering the last remnants of their navy. Two submarines, with American prize crews aboard, passed Badger's force during its run into the bay. The submarines were taken over yesterday north of Tokyo.

The battleship Nagato, her fire-blackened hull grotesque against the background of green hills, lay a few miles offshore from Yokohama.

Other identified wrecks included the cruisers Asama and Kasuga, the former low in the water with a hole in her side and the latter cap-sized.

Nimitz's announcement of the large-scale amphibious and patrol program said all amphibious operations would be under Adm. Richmond Kelly Turner, the tough expert who first sent marines ashore at Guadalcanal.

Halsey's Third fleet was assigned primarily to the naval occupation of the Tokyo area.

Adm. Thomas C. Kinkaid's Seventh fleet will land amphibious forces, including the Twenty-fourth army corps troops, on Korea and will control waters off the coast of China from Hainan northward through the Yellow sea.

Nimitz said areas of occupation and control for Adm. Raymond A. Spruance's Fifth fleet and Vice Adm. Frank Jack Fletcher's North Pacific force would be announced later.

Program from

(Continued from Page 1) people will not fail to learn. Spurred by the grim spirit of revenge, the Nazi party defeated national reconstruction, which had been well in progress, and led the German nation to the present total disruption."

Among the militarists speaking was the premier, Prince Higashikuni, who said the real reason for Japan's surrender (he did not say defeat) was the atomic bomb and the emperor's "love of the people."

But Japanese officers who have been doing some of the fighting told Americans entering Tokyo bay that American fleet and aerial bombardment already had hit Japan so hard she would have had to give up soon anyway.

It remained for the Rev. Michio Ozaki, described as chief of the American-Asiatic Board of the Japanese Christian Association, to dust off the tarnished prewar Japanese appeals in a newspaper article which the Tokyo radio saw fit to beam to East Asia.

Although Ozaki said he was "convinced that all of the 130 million Americans do not justly understand Japan" he gave them credit for wanting to. He said this would be seen in the tea-ceremony and flower arrangement "in fashion among the society class of America."

He urged more mutual understanding between Japanese Americans, and said Japanese ought to overlook "occasional violence" which he warned might arise during the occupation.

Ozaki's whole tone appeared to be that Americans may be ignorant but they mean well, really, and that the Japanese people should be patient.

Full Employment

James L. Donnelly, executive vice president of the Illinois Manufacturers' Association, Chicago, contended the bill "would retard production and increase unemployment" and would be "impractical in operation."

The bill, tagged "must" by President Truman, was described by Wallace, however, as the best guarantee of maintaining a free competitive economy.

While applauding the objective of full employment, Mosher advanced what he termed as an alternative, positive program for permanent prosperity. This called for:

1. Proper management of the money and credit system.

2. Elimination of all special privileges and government subsidies, including vigorous enforcement of the anti-trust laws, gradual reduction of tariff rates and revision of labor laws.

3. Assurance of "an adequate flow" of private investment by tax reduction, curtailment of government spending, less regulation and other factors.

Grade School Supervisor Is Named by Kopp

Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of schools, announced yesterday that Miss Ruby Marie Adams, Schenectady, N. Y., has been named supervisor and director of elementary education for Allegany and Lewis C. Davis, Bruce high school principal, has been appointed principal at Central high school, Lonaconing.

Kopp also announces that Miss Virginia Alice Jenkins, Keyser, W. Va., has been appointed to teach mathematics at Allegany high school. Miss Jenkins formerly taught in Mineral county schools for the last eight years.

Miss Adams, new supervisor of elementary education, will perform the duties formerly handled by Miss Lillian C. Compton, who became acting president of Frostburg State Teachers college. Miss Compton was also assistant superintendent. Richard T. Rizer, county high school supervisor, was named to the latter position.

The new elementary director held the same position at Schenectady for ten years.

Miss Adams began her teaching career in 1915 at Mt. View, Ark., where she taught the first three grades. Later she taught eight grades at Sheridan, Wyo. For two years she was principal at Miami, Okla., and three years principal at Bristol, Okla.

From 1925 to 1931 Miss Adams was a supervisor at Aberdeen, S. D. Later she was supervisor at Peekskill, N. Y. Miss Adams taught at summer school sessions at the University of Ohio, Syracuse University, Syracuse, N. Y., and Springfield college, Springfield, Mass.

The new supervisor received her formal education at Northeastern Teachers college, Tahlequah, Okla.; Southwestern Teachers college, Springfield, Mo.; Columbia university, New York, and Springfield college, Springfield, Mass.

Davis, a native of Cumberland, was graduated from Allegany high school in 1922, after which he received his bachelor of arts degree at the University of Richmond in 1926 and his master of arts degree at Columbia university in 1930. He did other graduate work at Pennsylvania State college and George Washington university.

In 1926 Davis began his teaching career in the old Greene Street junior high school, where he was stationed until 1930 when he went to Allegany high school as history teacher. He served at Allegany until February, 1941. The last three years he was assistant principal, and was then transferred to Bruce high school as principal, succeeding Maj. John W. Fisher who was called into the armed forces. Maj. Fisher is resuming his duties at Bruce this year.

Kopp also announced that vacancies now exist in the maintenance departments of two schools. Two janitors are needed, one for East Side school and one for West Side school.

London, Aug. 28 (P)—Two British servicemen who swam out into Tokyo bay to meet the American fleet were the first two Allied prisoners to gain freedom after the fleet entered the bay, a Reuters correspondent aboard the British battleship Duke of York reported yesterday.

Correspondent Astley Hawkins said the two prisoners were fished out of the bay by a picket boat from an American cruiser. They had escaped from a prison camp near Yokohama by slipping through a typhoon fence, and had walked thirty miles to the bay shore.

They saw the huge fleet at anchor and a Japanese fisherman told them the fleet was American.

London, Wednesday, Aug. 29 (P)—The Moscow radio said today that Russia and Hungary had signed an economic agreement calling for the exchange of $30,000,000 worth of goods between now and the end of 1946.

USS Missouri Had Narrow Escapes

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (P)—The navy disclosed today that the mighty battleship Missouri, scene of the forthcoming surrender ceremony in Tokyo bay, had at least two narrow escapes from Japanese suicide planes.

On April 11, as the 45,000-ton dreadnaught was helping support the Okinawa campaign, she was attacked by 5 low flying Kamikaze.

The ship never so much as altered her course and continued on her assigned duty.

Five days later she was again subjected to attempted suicide crashes but none was successful.

Since her initial action, when she escorted carriers of Adm. Marc Mitscher's Task Force 58 in the first mass air strikes against Japan on Feb. 16 and 17 the Missouri followed the tide of battle to the final Japanese surrender.

The new elementary director held the same position at Schenectady for ten years.

Miss Adams began her teaching career in 1915 at Mt. View, Ark., where she taught the first three grades. Later she taught eight grades at Sheridan, Wyo. For two years she was principal at Miami, Okla., and three years principal at Bristol, Okla.

"UNBLOCK" your DIGESTIVE TRACT

And Stop Dosing Your Stomach
With Soda and Alkalizers

Don't expect to get real relief from headache, sour stomach, gas and bad breath by taking soda and other alkalizers if the true cause of your trouble is constipation.

In this case, your real trouble is not in the stomach at all. But in the intestinal tract where most of your food is digested.
And where it gets blocked when it fails to digest properly.

What you want for real relief is not soda or an alkalizer—but something to "unblock" your intestinal tract. Something

People Favor Bipartisan Supreme Court, According to Gallup Polling

By GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., Aug. 28.—If President Truman could consult with the American people on general principles to be followed in making appointments to the Supreme Court of the United States, he would find that for one thing the people believe that appointment to the nation's highest court ought to be bipartisan in nature—that is, they should be divided about Republicans and Democrats.

This finding was made in nationwide questioning of the rank and file of the nation's voters by field reporters for the Institute. They asked:

"The President fills all vacancies on the supreme court. Do you think he should appoint about the same number of Democrats and Republicans, or should he appoint only members of his own political party?"

The replies:

Should Appoint About Same Number of Dems. & Reps.	56%
Should Appoint Only Members of His Own Party	39%
Should Make Appointments Only on Basis of Fitness, Non-Partisan	19%
No Opinion	16%

While theoretically the supreme court is above politics, actually, political considerations have always played a part in appointments. The extent to which politics may figure was dramatically evidenced in 1937 when the late Mr. Roosevelt introduced his plan to enlarge the supreme court. This plan, polls by the Institute at the time showed, was opposed by the majority of the American people.

The belief that appointments to the supreme court should include about as many of one party as the other is held by a majority of both Democrats and Republicans, although as might be expected, sentiment runs more strongly in favor of the proposal among Republicans. (The present make-up of the court is seven Democrats, one Republican, one vacancy.)

The vote on the question among Democrats and Republicans is as follows:

Rep. Dem.
Voters Voters

Should Appoint About Same Number of Dems. & Reps.	64%
Should Appoint Only Members of His Own Party	32%
Should Make Appointments Only on Basis of Fitness, Non-Partisan	19%
No Opinion	17%

The supreme court normally consists of nine members—the chief justice and eight associate justices.

A Worthy Step
In Education

THE INNOVATION announced by the Allegany county school system of a weekly series of publicly broadcast programs to acquaint the public with the plans and purposes of the county educational set-up ought to prove valuable in creating a better understanding of it among citizens, and perhaps the school authorities themselves.

Each program, it has been stated, will be a school interpretation of some aspect of school life as well as an interpretation of schools to the public. But that it is not to be in the nature of professional propaganda is noted in the statement that the programs will consist of talks by laymen as well as by school heads and teachers. Thus the viewpoint of the public as well as that of its school servants will be presented.

Running the public schools, this newspaper opines, is in a way pretty much like trying to run a newspaper. That is to say, everybody knows how better to run them than the trained and experienced persons who are conducting them. But with laymen participating in these programs, there ought to be ample opportunity for all those having gripes and grievances to get them out of their system. Perhaps the thing can develop into a sort of quiz panel or two, with the grippers on one side and the ones who have to take them on the other side. Thus, if some constructive suggestions result, the school authorities will doubtless be glad to have the benefit of them.

This innovation in reality promotes the basic idea of education but in the wider sense that it moves out of the schoolrooms into the open. Dr. Kopp, county superintendent, and his associates are to be commended for this bit of enterprise. He has made a particularly cogent point about it, namely, that the philosophy behind education can be a strong force for good or evil as witness the educational systems of Germany and Japan which, though they produced an effective force, were morally corrupt. That is something to which serious thought should be given.

Drafting Is Only Fair
To Overseas Veterans

A RADIO COMMENTATOR has predicted a fierce battle in the Congress over the continued drafting of men from 18 to 25 years of age by Selective Service.

It is difficult to say why there should be any fierce battle over this. Debate there will be and should be, but the fairness of the plan certainly ought to appeal when congressmen take up President Truman's urgent request that the drafting be continued despite the war end. As a matter of fact, the war has not actually ended. There has been only a cessation of hostilities. The job is not yet done.

The reason for this was explained in letters by the president to the chairmen of the Senate and House Military Affairs committees. The world situation now precludes stopping "the influx of replacements into the armed forces," he said. A sufficient force must be maintained overseas in order to avoid a tragic result.

Certainly the men in both arms and navy who have been long overseas and who have gone through the hell of battle should be relieved. And in order to give them their earned relief, it will naturally be necessary to send replacements.

The whole program, of course, should be patterned upon the forces designed for occupation purposes that are remaining after those who have earned the requisite points for discharge are released and sent home. The older men and those with short overseas service are to remain. The new selectees are necessary to keep this remaining force up to the required numbers. And a considerable number will be necessary in view of the fact that in addition to the policing of the Japanese mainland, many hundreds of islands must also be policed, while occupation obligations continue unabated in Europe.

There is a difference respecting the service of the young men who the president, upon the advice of the War and Navy authorities, believes must continue to be sent for the next two years. These new selectees are not facing combat duty, hazarding their lives and limbs as did those who were taken into the service when the war raged. They will be practically as safe as at home, their only hazards being that of accidents, which obtain anyway. Besides, they will have the advantage of military training, a venture into other lands and the vocational training that is a part of the service.

It is but simple justice to bring home the battle-scarred veterans who have suffered so many hardships and undergone so many sacrifices, not the least being their severance from their occupations, in which many of them will be obliged to experience difficulties and handicaps in getting readjusted in civil life. If we owe the real fighters anything, we surely owe them this.

Meat Rationing Is Of Top Concern

THE MOST PLEASANT ITEM in the news for the nation's housewives is undoubtedly the report that meat rationing may be ended soon. The likelihood that nylon stockings will be available by Thanksgiving or Christmas is enough to cause a happy flutter in the feminine community. But meat, or rather the feminine concern, is still the top concern of those who carry the nation's market basket.

It seems almost too good to be true, at first glance, that the situation could improve so rapidly that it may be possible to cut meat points sharply on September 1 and drop meat rationing entirely before next month is over. But the shift from war to peace has produced two radical changes in the situation.

The supply of meat available for civilians has suddenly expanded with the release of army reserves and a sharp curtailment in army buying. At the same time the civilian demand for meat seems destined to drop with the end of the boom in war industries.

Between this temporary decrease in demand and sharp increase in supply the meat shortage may be automatically solved, or at least maintained. Uncertainty is the amount of meat which will be sent abroad. But Secretary of Agriculture Anderson must surely have taken this into account when he predicted that a heavy run of cattle to market will free the housewife of the most onerous segment of the ration program which still remains in force.

The New Gadgets
For the New Cars

WALTER DAVENPORT, associate editor of "Collier's Weekly," has an intriguing article in the current issue thereof about the new passenger automobiles that will be put out after the first supply of 1942 models comes along to meet immediate demands.

Some of the new designs and gadgets have been predicted heretofore, such as the placing of the engines over the rear axles, the use of more glass, unbreakable and flexible, of course, and smaller engines with more power.

But the curtain is lifted on more pleasing things. Windshields will be arched around to the hints of the forward doors, abolishing the solid posts at each end as at present. Rear windows will be wider and equipped with wipers. There will be built-in jacks of a kind whereby you just "push a button and the jack will come down and the car will go up." There will be sand spreaders for slippery going. Why in the world didn't somebody think of that before? There will be numerous other improvements, such as door handles that don't stick out. But the best idea is saved for the last. Hold your breath, folks, and grin. The new cars will have refrigerators for beer!

Tropical Disease
Is Expected Here

NO SOONER do we conquer a disease than a new one appears. American medical men are now hearing about a new tropical disease called filariasis, a mosquito-borne infection of the blood. Capt. William Saphir has made a study of it and is reporting to the American Medical Association, predicting that it will appear among soldiers returning from the South Pacific, although in some cases it may take two years for it to develop sufficiently to result in distress.

Filariasis is caused by a microscopic worm injected in the human blood stream by mosquitoes. These tiny worms cause, in time, an inflammation and blockage of the lymph flow. One development is elephantiasis, he says. Concerning symptoms, Dr. Saphir says that the most frequently described is a numbness or weakness in a leg or an arm. Frequently the limb will "fall in" or "fall." This is followed shortly by an aching sensation in one or more limbs, particularly after heavy work.

Physicians will probably have many new diseases to combat as a result of the war.

With Washington removing hindrances to private enterprise as rapidly as possible, the business man is being encouraged to work up confidence in his confidence for the future.

During the forthcoming peace negotiations it will be well to remember that the Japs, who claim to be sons of heaven, are all mixed up on their ancestry.

Sixteen layers of civilization have been uncovered in Mesopotamia, with no evidence as to what measures were resorted to save it in each case.

LIVING UPON BANKED JOYS

BY GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

No perfect joy is permanent—but its memory is. These memories are often the source of our savings, to enrich us in future days, when the light in our heart grows a little dark. It is then that we live upon these banked joys.

One reason why it is such a good idea to bank these joys is that they characteristic saves it from becoming a repetition of Stalinism. After all, only two Communists were elected out of twenty-seven who ran. That's not dangerous, even though the propagandists can—and do—claim 100 per cent increase! (The Communists had one member in the last House.)

New Foreign Policy

I should doubt that there will be any decisive changes in foreign policy. Britain has consistently adhered to a pretty well formulated foreign policy for almost 300 years. However, it is reasonable to expect a greater sympathy on the part of the British Foreign Office for the movement left of center than with the kings and Tories the expiring government supported. An approach to self-government in India is to be expected.

I think foreign trade will become more international minded and more collective. I think it will move toward further cartelization. The question about British commerce growing will be dependent upon

Herbert Bayard Swope Declares English Socialization Can Not Be Followed Here

Note—In Drew Pearson's absence, Herbert Bayard Swope, long a student of British political affairs, contributes a guest column on the new labor government.

By HERBERT BAYARD SWOPE
Former editor of the New York World and public relations adviser to the secretary of war

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—The Conservative defeat in England is not so striking a blow as some portray it. Unquestionably, there will be a trend toward socialization, but I think that this will be confined, at least for the next few years, to the natural monopolies—power, light, heat, transportation, communication (for cables) and, of course, mining, steel, and the Bank of England. But much of this has been on their program for the last twenty-five years.

In fact, even the Lloyd George government gave support to the basic plan.

There will be a trend on the part of the radical movement in this country to affiliate itself with the British program. And I think there will be efforts to gain a wider and deeper association politically with Britain and Russia. But I do not discern any trend toward communism.

Whatever Britain does will be done not by dictatorship, but under the rule of a true democracy. That characteristic saves it from becoming a repetition of Stalinism. After all, only two Communists were elected out of twenty-seven who ran. That's not dangerous, even though the propagandists can—and do—claim 100 per cent increase! (The Communists had one member in the last House.)

However, it is reasonable to expect a greater sympathy on the part of the British Foreign Office for the movement left of center than with the kings and Tories the expiring government supported. I think foreign trade will become more international minded and more collective. I think it will move toward further cartelization. The question about British commerce growing will be dependent upon their rage of wage. Labor will drive for wider employment and higher pay. Probably it will take over many features of Beveridge's plan. To hold the British position in world markets will require subsidies. In other words, Britain will embark upon a species of protection.

I think the deep explanation as to the outcome in England (although it may not appear upon the record) is that war-weariness, to which I refer above. The people want to end the pressure of war and enjoy the pleasures of peace.

One other thought in this connection:

In any war we must be sure the victors do not take on the vices of the vanquished, while the vanquished practice the virtues of the victors.

I think the deep explanation as to the outcome in England (although it may not appear upon the record) is that war-weariness, to which I refer above. The people want to end the pressure of war and enjoy the pleasures of peace.

Unquestionably, the fact that Labor received a clear majority of all the votes, will tend to unify the country. I believe there is nothing to fear from England. In fact, we may be able to learn from this great experiment. My hope is that this will not be too great a limitation set upon free enterprise.

We should remember that Ramsay MacDonald's Labor government swung steadily to the right. In fact, it is axiomatic that the more conservative and the more radical.

This is happening in America right now. It wouldn't be surprising if the Republicans were gradually to move to the left, as against the conservatism of the southern dems.

S. Sgt. Ray C. Phillips Weds Dorothy Lee Randall

Ceremony Is Performed in First Methodist Church
Parsonage

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Randall, 1 Miltenberger street, this city, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Dorothy Lee Randall, to S. Sgt. Ray C. Phillips, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Phillips, Barre.

The wedding ceremony was solemnized August 9 in the parsonage of First Methodist church with the Rev. George E. Baughman officiating. Mrs. Mary Phillips, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, was matron of honor and the bride's only attendant. S. Sgt. Leonard J. Phillips served as his brother's best man and Art Elfritz, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, was an usher.

The bride was attired in a two piece light blue suit, with which she wore pink accessories. A corsage of pink rosebuds completed her costume.

Her matron of honor wore a navy blue dress with matching accessories.

The bride is a graduate of Fort Hill high school, class of 1942, and is employed by the Crystal Laundry Company.

The bridegroom attended Mt. Savage high school. Prior to entering the service in 1942, he was employed by the Celanese Corporation of America. After training at Fort Bragg, N. C., he left two years ago for overseas duty, without receiving a furlough.

Taking part in the battles of Attu, Leyte, the Philippines and Okinawa, he was wounded by shrapnel in the battle of the Philippines and returned to the states recently. Besides the Purple Heart medal, Sgt. Phillips also received the Asiatic-Pacific ribbon and a Bronze Star.

Mr. and Mrs. Phillips entertained with a wedding reception at their home following the ceremony.

The bride will reside with her parents while the bridegroom reports to Fort Dix, N. J., September 15, for reassignment.

Mrs. H. A. McMullen Observes Birthday At Family Dinner

IS RECENT BRIDE

Mrs. Ray C. Phillips

Mrs. Leona Zink Is Named to Staff Of State 8 and 40

Mrs. Henry A. Mackey and Mrs. William Jacob entertained in honor of their mother, Mrs. Hugh A. McMullen, with a family dinner last evening at her home, 515 Washington street, in celebration of her birthday.

A large, all white birthday cake centered the table, which was decorated with bouquets of assorted summer flowers.

Greetings were extended to Mrs. McMullen by a few intimate friends during the afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Gionek and children, Pittsburgh, and Dr. and Mrs. Eugene Delaney and family, Williamsport, are here for the celebration. Guests at the dinner included the members of the immediate family and Mrs. McMullen's grandchildren.

Appointments of the various chairmen will be made later.

The past chapeau pin was presented by Mrs. Letitia Burrier, Baltimore, superintendent, to Mrs. Paupe, who gave a short talk in acceptance and appreciation. She also received a personal gift from the department and a corsage of red roses tied with white ribbon, the salon colors, from Salon 325, this city, as departmental chapeau.

Mrs. Paupe introduced the new officers of the Eight and Forty at the meeting of the Forty and Eight and took greetings from the women's group. She will also report on the convention at the meeting of Salon 325 here September 11.

Gephart Playground Festival To Open Tomorrow Evening

The Gephart Playground association will hold its annual festival tomorrow evening at the playground, beginning at 7 o'clock. The proceeds of the festival will be added to the fund previously set aside for improvements and new equipment for the playground. R. Harold Fearer, president, announces.

"The association has started in its long range program of improvements," Mr. Fearer reports. "During the past summer a new back stop was constructed for the ball field and a basketball court and archery range were added with the co-operation of Commissioner Hunter B. Helfrich, city playground head. The grading and leveling of sections of the playground lot will be made within the next few weeks in order that grass seeding may be done this fall."

A wading pool and all-weather shelter are spring projects for which plans will be made shortly, Mr. Fearer said. He added that the aim of the association is to make its playground comparable to model playgrounds of other Eastern cities.

There will be refreshment stands under the general supervision of Mrs. A. J. Kompanek, social committee chairman, assisted by Mrs. Gathier Martin, Mrs. J. L. Stump, Mrs. W. E. Landefeld, Mrs. J. K. Butler and Mrs. Earl Sullivan. Hamburg and wiener sandwiches, coffee, cake, ice cream and soft drinks will be served.

Various games will be played throughout the evening and many cash and merchandise prizes will be awarded. W. E. Landefeld, general festival chairman, announces that every effort has been made for a gala evening of fun.

The ceremony was performed August 14 in the parsonage of First Methodist church, this city, with the Rev. George E. Baughman officiating. Miss Elaine Shuck, Eckhart, was maid of honor and Charles Hughes, this city, was best man.

The bridegroom is spending a thirty-day furlough here after serving seventeen and one-half months overseas and taking part in the invasion of Normandy and Southern France.

LISTEN WORLD!

—By Elsie Robinson
Registered U. S. Patent Office

I am proud of my sex. I'm convinced that the American woman is as lovely and as smart as any female on earth. Also she has enormous privilege, freedom and opportunity.

But I do not think that any women are less prepared for practical life than we Americans. The dumbest Fiji islander knows what it's all about better than the average American wife or mother.

For there is one flaw in our training. We may seem to be careerists. We may be outstanding professionals or artists. But underneath all the shellac we are incurably sentimental. By tradition and training the American woman is led to believe that R-O-M-A-N-C-E is the top-flight achievement for the human femme. That doesn't mean wifehood or motherhood. It doesn't mean maintaining a home. It means love-making—adoring admiration—passionate possession with all the sighs and furbelows. And that, gals, is the bunk. And is responsible for nine-tenths of our ruined homes and broken hearts.

No other woman of any race, civilized or savage, bases her marriage on the dreams which animate the American maiden. The Europeans and Asiatics have known from time immemorial that marriage is a practical as well as a sacred business. In individual instances love may be involved but that's not the big idea. The big idea is to make a home, raise a family, create a niche in respectable life. And incidentally if possible, find tenderness and companionship with your partner. But even if you don't, stick at the job anyway.

Now does one need to turn to Europe, Asia or Africa for such a pattern of marriage? Our own forefathers and greatmothers observed that pattern. They had no valentine illusions. Marriage then was a serious job. If they thereby found happiness, that was velvet. If they didn't they found consolation in that unique and almost forgotten term, "duty." They may or may not have loved each other when they married. Personally I'd seen few of the founding fathers that I would have dated. But if the beginning was cool the years brought satisfaction in the pride of honest achievement, in the joy of family life.

But today we have gone Hollywood. We expect our married lives to be a Hollywood script and if they aren't? Why then it must be the other fellow's fault. Or we are misunderstood. So immediately, if not sooner, we take another chance.

What's the answer? It's a tragic one as you'd know if you read the letters which pile upon your desk. They are not always from divorcees. Often they are letters from steady, faithful wives and mothers in their forties. These wives and mothers have been married for twenty years. They married with all our traditional American dreams of everlasting honeymoons, and they have clung to those dreams. But those dreams did not come true. In time their husbands became something other than lovers. They became business men, politicians, ranchers—busy men with little time for fancy words or gestures. And with that change a terrible disillusionment came to their wives.

Or the years may have wrought havoc. The girl who dimpled and sparkled at 19 has a double chin and gray hair at 45 and can no longer apply as a Power model. Yet she still has 19-year-old expectations.

Than which there could be nothing

Improvement to Beall High School Grounds Is Being Widely Discussed

Move To Dedicate Area as Memorial Was Started in 1942

BY RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG, Aug. 28 — The improvement and landscaping of ground around Beall high school on Elkhardt flat is becoming the topic for general discussion in the community.

The school building, considered the most attractive structure on Route 40 in this section of Maryland, was completed shortly before the war and a movement was started October 1, 1942, by the American Legion to have the school grounds beautified for the two-fold purpose of adding to the attractiveness of the property and dedicating the grounds as a memorial park to the men and women of Frostburg and surrounding towns serving with the armed forces in World War II.

Practically every one in the community contacted by the American Legion committee in 1942 approved the idea of beautifying the grounds as a memorial, but many suggested that the matter be held in abeyance until the war was won and the servicemen and women returned home.

The American Legion committee was also informed that the school board, the county commissioners, the citizens of Frostburg and the school alumni were in favor of improving the school grounds at the earliest possible opportunity when funds might be available to start the work. Plans for improving the grounds, the committee was informed, were completed and had the approval of the school board in authority at the time the construction of the building was underway.

In a letter mailed to all fraternal and civic organizations and several hundred citizens of Frostburg under date of October 1, 1942, the Legion committee stated that the action of the American Legion in sponsoring the movement was prompted by the fact that the Legion started a similar movement in 1922 at the old Beall high school, the grounds of which today are an ornament to the community. The corner stone of Beall high school on Loo street was laid in 1893 and the school yard remained an eyesore for twenty-nine years until the American Legion, with the assistance of the county school board and public-spirited citizens of Frostburg, beautified the grounds as a memorial to the veterans of World War I.

Visitors present were Rotarian R. Donald Conn, of the Brownsville, Pa., club, and Buckney Holmes, Frostburg. The club will not meet next week on account of the holiday. Canned Fruit, Vegetable Prices To Be Unchanged

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (AP) — Consumers will pay about the same for the 1945 pack of canned fruits and vegetables as for last year's pack, the Office of Price Administration said today.

A subsidy on civilian sales of corn, peas, tomatoes, and tomato juice will hold these foods to substantially 1942 price levels.

OPA, however, said that there might be some "minor increases" in other ceilings resulting from permitted increases at the processor level.

Perfect Marriage Is Scarce Article, Miss Fairfax Says

BY BEATRICE FAIRFAX
Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

It seems strange to a good many men and women who write to this column that no allowance is made for home tantrums.

A husband will condone the off-days of his business partner or associate. Hell pass it along with, "Jim's got a hangover," and be careful not to add to Jim's ruffled spirits. The lady-wife, if she's so fortunate these days as to have a laundress, a part-timer, or a window washer, is careful not to tread on the toes of the aforesaid when tempers are twitchy.

But precious little allowance is made for tantrums on the home front, the reason being the aggrieved and the aggressor can't serve notice—at least not immediately. The part-timer can quit; the window-washer can have other engagements; the gentleman with the hangover, if he happens to be the boss, has the privilege of hiring and firing. But "Home Sweet Home" has to keep on, until that major operation of domestic life—a divorce—is invoked.

The trouble with so many of these rushed to Reno seems to be that husbands and wives make no attempt to be satisfied with their matrimonial bargains. They'll make allowances for the tantrums and off-days of everyone but a husband or wife, and then it must be perfection or nothing.

You may have had the melancholy experience, most of us have had, of being invited out to dinner and seeing a husband positively wait for his wife to open her mouth on any subject, to dispute her statement.

And you may have noticed a wife whose ready tears suggest a kitchen faucet that needs a new washer. Friend-husband may comment on the weather, but the heartbroken, tearful wife sees a dog that reflects on her. Perhaps there isn't anything but Reno for these unhappy and perverse souls. Like moths to flame, bent on their own destruction—nothing can stay them.

They fail absolutely to realize

15 School Buses Pass Inspection

Of twenty school buses and four passenger cars inspected yesterday at Flintstone, Oldtown and Piney Plains, fifteen vehicles were found in perfect condition and five in need of minor adjustments. Arthur G. Ramey, director of pupil personnel for the board of education, reported last night.

Inspections are being made by Ramey and David Davis, mechanic for the Green Chevrolet Company Frostburg. All four passenger cars inspected yesterday were found to be in good shape but five buses needed repairs. One of the five buses had two burned out light bulbs, one had a broken leaf on the front spring; two buses had loose connections on mufflers; and one bus needed to have the brakes adjusted.

All necessary repairs to these buses will be made prior to the opening of school.

Ramey will examine buses today in the Cumberland, Elkhorn and Mt. Savage areas. He said, "We plan to go over all vehicles with a fine tooth comb."

Council Delays Issuance Of Building Permit

Following the protest of property owners on Ridgewood and Warwick avenues, the mayor and city council decided Monday to hold in abeyance the issuance of a building permit for the new addition to the Memorial hospital nurses' home until the architects redraw the plans to avoid conflicting with the zoning ordinance regulation.

Clyde S. Slider, spokesman for the property owners, said that the deeds of the owners contain various restrictions which have been adhered to. He pointed out that the city would violate its own zoning ordinance if it allowed the hospital to build one wing of the new addition along Ridgewood avenue beyond the building line.

The architects, Palmer and Lamdin, Baltimore, have been instructed to prepare a new set of plans, according to Mayor Thomas S. Post.

NATURAL GAS—

Another Veteran of the Duration—is Mustered Out

Here's the good news thousands of homeowners have been waiting for!

Government Order U-7, which restricted the use of Gas for new heating installations, has been rescinded effective at once.

As a result you can now plan to enjoy the many advantages of automatic Gas heat in your home—completely automatic operation, spic and span cleanliness, uniform healthful heat, plus the carefree comfort and convenience you've always wanted.

Unfortunately, Gas heating equipment is not yet available for all who might want it.

It will take some time for manufacturers to secure necessary materials and to reconvert their plants to peace time manufacture. But you can rely on their initiative and genius to speed production so that before long the best of equipment will again be in ample supply.

While we're waiting for equipment, it will pay you to take steps to get the best Gas heating possible. Insulation and storm windows will assure you the utmost economy in Gas heat. And be sure to talk the matter over with your Gas Company or heating contractor. Get an estimate of the cost of heating your home the modern way—with Natural Gas.

Your Gas Company thanks you for the whole-hearted cooperation you extended during the many trying days, now happily past. We look forward to serving you well in the peaceful days ahead, so that Gas, your most versatile fuel in the home, will continue to give you the high quality of service you have learned to expect from it.

Mt. Royal Avenue May Be Housing Project Location

Survey of Tentative Site Will Be Started at Once, Rizer Says

A plan for building fifty homes on a site at the western end of Mt. Royal avenue to alleviate the housing shortage in Cumberland was discussed yesterday afternoon at a meeting in the office of Ralph L. Rizer, city engineer.

Rizer said that a survey of the site will be started immediately to determine whether the topography of the land will permit construction of the houses at that location.

It was stated that the maximum cost of each lot and house, including the paving of streets and installing sewers and water lines, will be $8,500. City officials said the War Production Board will grant priorities for materials necessary in constructing the homes.

A development engineer from Baltimore conferred with Rizer, Mayor Thomas S. Post and Harold F. Fletcher, cashier of the Peoples bank, yesterday to study maps of the city and to select the most promising location for the housing project.

Costs of installing sewers, paving, curbing and sidewalks would be assessed against the property holder of each lot, while the city would install a water line and electricity without charge to the lot owners, it was stated.

Rizer pointed out that the city owns a volume of lots at various locations throughout the city, most of which already have streets and water, gas and electric service, but he said that the site on Mt. Royal avenue was tentatively chosen because its topography is more suitable to the proposed project.

Series of Fires Damage Car, Bus And Three Trucks

Cumberland firemen were kept busy yesterday by a series of automobile fires which caused considerable damage to three trucks, a car and a bus and severe damage to the garage in which one of the trucks was parked.

The fires started yesterday morning when West Side firemen were called to Greene street near the Masonic temple to extinguish a blazing truck owned by William Wagner, Oldtown. The blaze, which resulted from an overheated brake but called for help after the fire caused the right rear tire to blow out.

Three minutes later, Central firemen were called to the intersection of Mechanic and Market streets when a coal truck owned by W. C. Wagner, Oldtown, caught fire. The wiring and front seat of the truck were damaged, firemen reported.

The most serious blaze of the day was the fire which resulted when the muffler of a truck, E. B. Smith, LaVale, was trying to start, back-fired and set fire to the garage at 325 Greene street, owned by the Michel J. Sell heirs.

Damage Is Considerable

The frame garage was blazing when West Side firemen arrived at 12:49 p. m. Firemen reported the roof of the garage was badly burned and the wiring, paint and one tire of the truck were damaged. Smith, operator of the Dingie Esso station, suffered slightly burned hands in the blaze.

A cigarette or cigar carelessly thrown through the window was blamed for a fire which damaged the front seat of the car of Leo H. Ley, 805 Braddock road, as it was parked in front of 615 Greene street yesterday at 9:40 p. m. West Side firemen extinguished the blaze.

Least serious was the grass fire on Winfield road yesterday at 1:56 p. m. South End firemen battled the flames for almost an hour.

Smith Cites Weeds As Health Menace

Growth of weeds on vacant lots and some city streets is a health menace, Harold W. Smith, secretary of the chamber of commerce, told the mayor and city council yesterday.

Smith pointed out that next week children will be starting to school, stating that the growth of obnoxious weeds, especially poison ivy, along sidewalks and streets is especially dangerous at this time.

Citing conditions on Buckingham and Windsor roads in The Dingle, Smith said he has observed the same situation in other sections of the city.

Hunter B. Helfrich, commissioner of streets, said at the present time the street department can only remove weeds which are on city-owned property or on streets and alleys. When weeds grow in cracks of sidewalks or on the property of individuals it is their responsibility to have them cut, he added.

According to the city ordinance regulating the control of weed growth, all complaints must be made to the health department, which notifies the persons responsible for having the weeds removed. In the event this is not done, the complaint is turned over to the police department.
